TAKE CARE OF YOUR HEALTH.

If Your Blood Is Weak And Clogged with Poisons, Pepto-Mangan Will Strengthen and Purify It

When you get over-tired day after day, your system has to get rid of so much waste it can't create new energy fast enough. The result is that your blood is filled with waste matter. It becomes clogged. You are trying to get around with a lot of poison in your system.

You look bad, you feel poorly. You get out of patience easily. Ambition is lost. You don't care about anything.

That is no way to live. Your blood needs help for a time. It is starved. You will find help in that fine tonic, Pepto-Mangan. Pepto-Mangan purifies the blood and fills it with red corpuscles. In a little while you will have plenty of rich, red blood and you won't know yourself. It isn't a magic medicine. It contains iron and other ingredients that feed starved blood, and make it rich and red. Physicians have prescribed Pepto-Mangan for years.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in liquid and tablet form. Take either kind you prefer. One acts the same as the other. Both contain the same ingredients. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" should be on the package. Adv.

The only uncertainties of life are death, disappointment and taxes.

For Women

"I was hardly able to drag, I was so weakened," writes Mrs. W. F. Ray, of Easley, S. C. "The doctor treated me for about two months, still I didn't get any better. I had a large family and felt I surely must do something to enable me to take care of my little ones. I had heard of

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

"I decided to try it," continues Mrs. Ray. "I took eight bottles in all. I regained my strength and have had no more trouble with womanly weakness. I have ten children and am able to do all my housework and a lot outdoors. I can sure recommend Cardui."

Take Cardui today. It may be just what you need.

LAND SALE

Sampson DeRossett, et. al.

M. F. DeRossett, et. al.
In obedience to a decree of the Chancery Court in the above styled cause I will on the premises in Grassy Cove, Tenn., on the 17th day of January, 1921, at 1 o'clock P. M. offer for sale at public outcry the following real estate belonging to Elias DeRossett at the time of his death situated in the 3rd Civil District of Cumberland County, Tenn.

First—Will be offered the entire tract consisting of about 104 acres.

Next—Will be offered the Bottom field west of the Bristow Spring Branch.

Next—Will be offered the now merchantable timber on the entire tract with two years time allowed to remove the same.

Next—The 86 acre tract without the timber.

The bid or bids aggregating the highest price for the whole property will be accepted.

However, the property will be sold subject to the mineral interest in about 50 acres, title to which is outstanding.

In no event will the property be sold for less than $4000.00.
Notes due in six and twelve months with interest and retaining a lien on the land and good personal security will be required of the purchaser.

I will also sell on January 18th, 1921, on the premises in Crab Orchard, Tenn., on the same terms as above set out the following lots in the Town of Crab Orchard: Bounded on west by Baxter street, north by Front Street, east by C. J. Wheeler, and south by Amanda Manning. Being the property sold by J. S. Cline to E. DeRossett.

All of the foregoing described property is fully described in the decrees and pleadings and maps filed in the cause to which reference is had for a full description.

This December 18th, 1920.
C. G. BLACK,
Clerk and Master.

Travelers bound for Europe are warned to take plenty of money, says a news item. Was there ever a time when a tourist did not need plenty of money?—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

LAUNCH VAST EFFORT FOR EUROPE'S YOUNG

Eight American Relief Agencies
Combine to Save 3,500,000
Children Death Menaces.

Eight great relief organizations, working among and for every race and creed, have united under the name of the European Relief Council to coordinate child relief in Europe this winter. The Council will seek to provide funds for 3,500,000 starving and diseased children in Eastern and Central Europe and to administer this relief economically.

It consists of Herbert Hoover, chairman, and Franklin K. Lane, treasurer; Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers); James A. Flaherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Willard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $38,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the desperate situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is planned, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $23,000,000 will be used for basic food and $10,000,000 for medical service.

For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child saving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever attempted in the United States," Mr. Hoover says. "The organizations represented have come to the unanimous, though independently formed conclusion, that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert incredible tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the Council will organize their representatives in every town and community of the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

Pleads for Europe's Helpless Children

"They are no more my children than yours," is Herbert Hoover's homely yet eloquent plea for 3,500,000 European children who face incredible tragedy this winter unless America comes to their rescue. The funds by which American aid has been feeding millions have run out, and that the work may not stop and thus necessitate what would amount to "a massacre of the innocents" seven other great American relief organizations have united with Mr. Hoover's organization under the name of the European Relief Council in a joint appeal for funds. The collaborating agencies are the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Folly to Depend on Others.
The independent chap is the fellow who tries to do things for himself. Bill Jones used to sit next to us at the "little ole red schoolhouse" on the hill. He never thought of doing the "sums" himself. That was a matter of labor, and labor was not a thing he would cheerfully boast about. So he just made it a habit of "peekin'" and putting down things as he saw them. Many a time he did it to his embarrassment, but that did not matter. You see he had the habit and there wasn't anything else for him to do. He didn't learn the first steps and so had to depend on others the rest of his days. But he could talk independent enough, and what he was going to do to that teacher was enough to make your blood run cold. But he didn't do anything. Such fellows never do unless it's an accident. Then they are as surprised as anyone else that the thing happened.—Exchange.

"With Milk and Honey."
There was once an ancient nation, well fed on bread and meat and gravy, that left its feshpots and steered northeast out of fat Egypt toward a hilly land "flowing with milk and honey." It did not seek a land of lions and bumblebees, but of honey bees and dairy cows. The honey maker of the Promised Land was a small, swift, furiously earnest worker with an obsession of heaping up wealth for others to enjoy. The milk provider was a dairy cow that could raise her own calf and feed a baby into the bargain. The land that flows with milk and honey is the land of the overflowing spirit, of the brimming milk pan, the dripping honeycomb; the land of sweet surpluses, the country whose workers do more than merely eat what they produce.—Exchange.

Effects of Civilization.
It is a mistake to assume that civilized man can perform and endure like the uncivilized. Centuries of inbreeding and adaptation to environment have changed the human machine into a stronger mental and a less strong physical mechanism. In other words, the bodies of most men are better adapted to demands of a mental nature, such as quickness of decision, constructive planning, etc., rather than to tasks demanding mere brute strength. There are, of course, those among us who still possess the latter to a remarkable degree, but their number is probably diminishing. A little more insistence on this point by physical examiners and instructors might bring about much good to the youth of the land.

A Lamb Anecdote.
This anecdote is of a lady—a sort of social Mrs. Fry—who had been for some time lecturing Lamb on his irregularities. At last, she said: "But really, Mr. Lamb, I'm afraid all that I'm saying has very little effect on you. I'm afraid from your manner of attending to it, that it will not do you much good." "No, ma'am, said Lamb, "I don't think it will. But as all that you have been saying has gone in at this ear (the one next her) and out at the other, I dare say it will do this gentleman a great deal of good," turning to a stranger who stood on the other side of him.—R. H. Stoddard.

Face Reveals Character.
Cautious people have nostrils that lie flat to the face, and the nose terminates in a thin, pointed tip. A person with an ignoble character has a head which is prominent close behind the ear, a narrow forehead, and only a short space between the outer corners of the eyes and the ears. A long nose, when accompanied by a pointed chin, is also an unfavorable indication. A prominent upper lip is a distinctive feature of a noble character. It is generally found in persons of superior merit. The three sections of the face—forehead, nose and chin—will be of equal length in such a face.

Tough Luck.
A chap in Newtonville, Ala., read about a man who helped an old woman across the street in New York and was left $35,976.24 by the grateful person. The Newtonville gentleman bought a ticket for New York, helped the first old lady he saw and was arrested for trying to hold her up.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Vermont in History.
Vermont was not a state until after the Revolution. A commission was appointed by New Hampshire, which had charge and controlled the territory. When it was admitted as a state it derived its name from the Green Mountains, Verde—green, Mont—mountain—Vermont.

GRASSY COVE

Christmas presents seem to be the order of the day.

The school gave a Christmas entertainment here Saturday night and also a Christmas tree and of course old Santa played his part nicely. A good time was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Sarah Toilett of Burke was the guest Friday night of her brother Mr. Luther Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hedgecoth spent Saturday night with Mrs. Hedgecoth's mother, Mrs. Mary Selby. Mr. T. S. Randolph and family were the guests Sunday of his mother, Mrs. James McDaniel.

George Warner was here Sunday. Mr. Wed Hassler was the guest of Miss Mary Hyder Sunday.

Mr. Connie Hale and family, of Linary, attended the Christmas tree here Saturday.

Mrs. T. L. Hale has been quite sick but is better at this writing.

Masters Leslie and Sanford Brown have been visiting relatives here since Friday.

December 26 Snowball.

ADAMS FORD

School closed at Mill Creek December 11th, that being three and one-half months taught. And the teacher fails to get pay for the last five weeks taught. The county is poor isn't it? Or perhaps they want to place the money on interest for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Adams made a business trip to Crossville Saturday returning home Sunday.

A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Henry Saturday night. A number of young folk were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Dec. 19. Daisy.

CLARKRANGE

Miss Elsie Little and Forrest Little are on vacation from T. P. I. Misses Beryl and Creole Wisner are spending holidays with homefolks at Monroe.

Oscar Turnington and Ethel Miller were married Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elmore and children spent Christmas with W. H. Peters and family.

Ida Smith and wife of Ozone are spending the holidays here with his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Smith.

Preston McDaniel is visiting at Monroe.

The play given by the high school here Thursday and Friday nights was a success. The play was well given. The proceeds, which go to the school amounted to $66.

The High School is progressing fine here. They recently installed a new piano in the school and will be able to give music lessons as soon as a music teacher is employed.

A telegram was received Tuesday, from Stillwell, Okla. stating that A. D. Essary died Saturday. Later news tells that he died of heart failure while in town a few miles from his residence. It will be remembered that he moved from this place hardly 12 months ago. He has a host of relatives and friends here who deeply mourn the loss. He was raised here and lived here up to the time that he moved to Stillwell.

There was a Christmas tree given at Toddtown school house Saturday evening.

December 27. J.
